

You Are the One

By Josh Graber

One day You spoke to the void
Where once was darkness light now shown
You created a world where Your glory could become known

One day with dust in Your hands
You formed me out of skin and bones
One breath from Your mouth breathed life into my very soul

Chorus:     You are the one who's glory knows no end
                  You are the one who's called me a friend

One day I heard Your voice cry
Lungs full of air the first time
A baby boy grew up as a friend of mine

One day I heard Your voice cry
As You offered Your life in my place
I buried Your body, three days later I saw Your face

One day Your voice will ring out
With fiery vengeance You'll come
To this blanket of earth, where You'll shake all the wicked ones from

One day Your voice will ring out
To call all Your righteous ones home
And I will rise up in the clouds forever to be with You Lord

Your glory goes through all the earth
Your love for me is undeserved
Your glory goes through all the earth
So who am I that I deserve to be called Your friend
To be called Your friend
You call me Your friend
You call me Your friend